

Major General Jefferson J. O'Donnell is the Commander, Air Force Personnel Center, Joint Base San Antonio-Randolph, Texas. AFPC provides commanders around the world with skilled Airmen and Guardians to conduct Air Force and Joint missions. Additionally, AFPC executes programs covering the entire life cycle of military and civilian personnel for the Department of the Air Force, from accession through retirement, including readiness, growth, development and deployment. AFPC's diverse workforce of approximately 2,200 military members, civilians and contractors is responsible for worldwide operations for nearly 2.3 million Airmen, Guardians, retirees and family members.

General O'Donnell entered the Air Force in 1996, receiving his commission from Air Force Officer Training School. He earned his pilot wings at Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training at Columbus Air Force Base, Mississippi. General O'Donnell has commanded a fighter squadron and a fighter wing and he has flown in support of Operations SOUTHERN WATCH, IRAQI FREEDOM, ENDURING FREEDOM, and Noble Eagle.

Prior to serving as Commander of the Air Force Personnel Center, General O'Donnell was the Director of Regional Affairs, Deputy Under Secretary of the Air Force, International Affairs.

General O'Donnell is a command pilot with more than 2,600 military and civilian flying hours, including more than 370 combat hours in fighter aircraft.